Our services

For more than 30 years, PPI has been active in the finance and insurance sectors, in the fields of consulting, software developments and eBanking products.

We are equally well-informed on the merchant bank interface and issuing sides. The wide-ranging possibilities of new infrastructures for payments – in the mobile environment in particular – require intelligent management. And the convenience aspects and functional scope of such infrastructures are increasingly important. Consumers not only want to decide when, how and where they make their purchases; they also demand the same flexibility for the payment options. To this end, we are collaborating with our customers to develop solutions and strategies for introducing leading-edge payment processes.
